Branch the inevitable—Branch the magnificant—Branch the eloquent—has been engaging himself for six weeks, at fabulous prices, to rective the history of Little Georgie Matsell to the visiters to that chaste temple of annuaement, the Melodeon, on Breadway. Imagine Stephen on the stage—imagine the pretty water girls suspending the dispensa-ion of gin slings and delicate embraces, and looking up at the nerrator, pocket handkerchiefs' all in their eye, and annising audioby. The subject is too painful, and makes us peallent—almost pratich-tiary.
